

The Professional Certification Coalition (PCC) is a nonprofit association founded in July 2018 to address legislative initiatives that affect professional certification programs and those who hold private certification credentials. The PCC currently has 114 organizational members, including non-governmental professional certification organizations, professional societies, and service providers. The PCC’s members reflect a full spectrum of professions, including health care professionals, professional and civil engineers, human resources managers, financial professionals, and information technology professionals, among many others. The PCC advances the best interests of those who use or rely on professional certification—such as employers, reimbursers, and the general public—as well as of individual professionals themselves who achieve professional certification status. Our founding organizations are the American Society of Association Executives (the leading organization for association management) and the Institute for Credentialing Excellence (the leading developer of accreditation standards for professional certification programs). The PCC thanks its members for their valued participation in the coalition and their ongoing advocacy on behalf of the certification community.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS FOR 2019-2020 FISCAL YEAR

ADVOCACY

Worked with Reps. Abigail Spanberger (D-VA) and Rob Wittman (R-VA) to introduce H.R. 5339, the Freedom to Invest in Tomorrow’s Workforce Act, which the PCC helped draft and which would allow tax-favored 529 accounts to pay for the cost of obtaining and maintaining a certification, including exam fees and other qualified expenses.

Worked to persuade staff for Sen. Amy Klobuchar’s (D-MN) staff to commit to introducing a Senate companion bill to H.R. 5339, that is more broadly applicable to certification programs than her bill, S. 379, which was the original impetus for the PCC’s efforts on this issue.

Sent more than 20 letters to state legislators around the country explaining the PCC’s concerns about bills affecting the professional certification community and proposing specific amendments to bills.

Engaged with the offices of Sen. Cory Booker (D-NJ) and Rep. Bonnie Watson Coleman (D-NJ), as well as the National Employment Law Project, to advocate for amendments to the Fair Chance Licensing Act to make clear that the Act does not permit private causes of action against professional certification organizations and does not restrict private certification organizations in establishing and enforcing eligibility standards and codes of conduct.

Successfully lobbied to include a safe-harbor provision in Missouri HB 2046, a comprehensive professional licensing/registration bill, to clarify that Missouri law does not intend to remove certification requirements from professional practice acts that require licensed professionals to earn and maintain current certifications issued by private certification bodies.

Proposed favorably received amendments to the sponsors of the Skills Renewal Act to expand the reach of the bill’s $4,000 skills training tax credit for Americans experiencing pandemic-related job instability. The amendment would apply the tax credit to expenses related to reputable certifications and credentials and to any exams and assessments required to obtain a certification or credential.

Joined with ASAE and ICE in commissioning amicus brief in appeals court consideration of Kenney v. American Board of Internal Medicine district court antitrust decision upholding right of private certification organizations to establish and alter certification requirements.

Successfully advocated for Missouri Department of Professional Registration to provide an informal determination concluding that individuals who obtain a credential describing themselves as a “registered” professional in their field can do so without fear of legal liability under a facially contrary Missouri statute.

Mobilized targeted participation from PCC members to send letters to legislators in states considering high priority legislation.

Successfully advocated for amendments to PA SB 637, which would establish an individualized assessment process for a licensure board or commission to determine if an applicant’s criminal history is disqualifying; in its current form, the PCC regards this bill as a model of a balanced ex-offender reentry bill that does not threaten either regulated or wholly voluntary private certification programs.

STAKEHOLDER OUTREACH/THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

Published a white paper outlining key principles for legislation relating to consideration of criminal conviction history that articulates the basis for the certification community's position that certification organizations should be self-regulating on this issue and outlines recommendations regarding how certification organizations can be part of the solution with respect to reducing barriers for ex-offenders to re-enter the job market without compromising public health, safety, or welfare.

Continued communications with American Legislative Exchange Council, Institute for Justice, and other key stakeholders and interest groups; suggested amendments to IJ's and the National Employment Law Project's draft model legislation for the 2020 legislative session.

Coordinated with PCC members who attended or sponsored the National Conference of State Legislature's annual meeting to speak to state legislators and regulators about the PCC's objectives.
